

CONSERVATIVES OF BATTLE RIVER NOMINATE MR J.W.G. MORRISON

Mr J. W. G. Morrison, barrister, of Vermilion, who for a period of six years was mayor of that town until he retired in 1924, was chosen at a representative convention of the Conservatives of the Battle River riding which was held in the theatre last Wednesday to carry the Conservative banner in the forthcoming Federal elections.

The nominee, who is a graduate of Dalhousie university at Halifax, is a Nova Scotian by birth, came west many years ago, and in 1923 was president of the Alberta Union of Municipalities.

In closing the gathering the chairman, Mr J. Drew, of Kinsley, who with Mr J. Morrison, as secretary occupied the platform, explained the objects of the meeting.

The minutes of the last meeting having been approved, a resolutions committee was appointed in the persons of Messrs Robinson and Morrison. Mr W. Craig then moved that the meeting organize a Conservative organization for the Federal constituency of Battle River, which was carried unanimously.

A draft constitution was brought before the meeting, and this, after some discussion on salient points, it was adopted on a motion put forward by Mr. G. Hudson.

The election of officers was then proceeded with, and this resulted as follows:

Hon Pres.—Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen

Hon Vice-pres.—Mr A. McGillivray, Calgary.

President (at large)—Mr J. Drew, Vermilion.

Vice-pres. (one for each provincial riding)—Ribstone: W. Foden of Hardy; Wainwright: D. Pawsey of Edmonton; Vermilion: F. Richardson of Vermilion; Alexandria: T. MacKay of Kinsley.

Sec. Treas.—Mr J. Morrison.

The executive committee will consist of the above officers and the following appointees (from the several provincial ridings): Ribstone: G. Lear, Battle Bend; W. Baker, Rossby; M. Hagen, Hagenburg; Wainwright: G. Morrow, Edmonton; C. Ryll, Chauvin; A. McDowell, Irwin; Alexandria: J. Farley, Lloydminster; D. Bennett, McDonaldville; J. McDonald, Islay; Vermilion: J. Jones, Manville; W. Craig and A. Cole, Vermilion.

In the absence of the Hon. W. Giesbach, who was unable to be present, Mr D. Duggan, of Edmonton, addressed the meeting setting forth very clearly the policies of the party and the aims of their respected leader, Mr Meighen. He said that one must have a good conception of the condition of the country to be fully alive to the needs of the Dominion as a whole.

He said that the outstanding feature of Canada, from the Old Country viewpoint today was a realisation of the change of policy regarding tariff. Free trade had proved its power in England in by-gone days, but under altered conditions that country was now seeing that it must revise its tariff policy or gradually decline among commercial world powers. He claimed that all new countries, such as Canada, must have protection. The problems of the east conflicted possibly to some extent with those of the west but the Meighen policy was one of compensation as between the different provinces, whereby all would have their just valuation in the whole.

He suggested that possibly the government at Ottawa could even things up as between the extreme east and west.

C.N.R. TOURIST TRAFFIC SETS NEW RECORD

Reports presented at a recent meeting passenger traffic officials of the western region, Canadian National Railways, held at Jasper Park Lodge showed that passenger travel this year on both rail and steamship services of the system has surpassed all previous records. Despite the increased accommodation offered this season at Jasper Park Lodge, the quarters have been filled to capacity throughout the summer. This summer the Canadian National entered the Alaska trade with great success, while the development of the Triangle Tour, taking in Vancouver, Jasper Park and Prince Rupert has brought more tourists into the northern Canadian Rockies than ever before. R. Creelman, passenger traffic manager of the region, announced that greater efforts that ever will be made to place Canada before intending tourists and to develop auto traffic east and west within the Dominion.

HALF HOLIDAY FOR ELECTION DAY OCT 29

OTTAWA, The afternoon of Thursday, October 29 (election day) has been declared a half holiday throughout the Dominion of Canada to enable all voters to cast their vote in the Dominion election. An order-in-council granting the half holiday was signed by the governor-general here Saturday afternoon.

The Wainwright Pharmacy has a splendid line of Westinghouse radio equipment. All at the new reduced prices.

GOVERNMENT BANS WORK ON SUNDAY SAYS NEW ORDER

OTTAWA—In future no employee of the Dominion government will be required to work on Sunday "except in circumstances of emergency or necessity." If any employee is required to work Sunday he shall be allowed during the next six days of the week a period of 24 hours of rest.

The above is the effect of an order-in-council which has been passed by the Dominion government. It declares that there shall be no exception to the above rule except by departmental authority, and then only when there is no substitute to do the work.

The order, which was presented to cabinet by Hon. J. Murdock, minister of labor, points to the fact that any employees of the government are now required to work on Sunday. It states that the draft convention and recommendations adopted by the International Labor Conference in 1921 provide for 24 hours' rest in every week for workers.

Much newspaper space was accorded the Alberta Women's Institute exhibit at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto in all the eastern papers. Neatly arranged on pantry shelves were jars of fruit, both native and cultivated, of vegetables, pickles, jellies and meats, game, fish and mushrooms, all canned by Women's Institute members from all over the province, from the Grand Prairie country to the United States border and from Rocky Mountain House to Islay. Not only were these canned by Alberta women but they were cooked by Alberta wood, coal or gas and put up in Alberta made jars. There were cases of macaroni from Lethbridge, sugar from Raymond, glass and pottery from Medicine Hat and Redcliff; jams, tea and coffee, spices, vinegar, flour and cereals, soaps and cleansers from Edmonton and Calgary butter and cheese from Wetaskiwin; even a housewife and a broom "Made in Alberta" were there, the latter being used to clean up the whole of Canada as the Women's Institute demonstration from all the other provinces borrowed it to sweep out their respective households and pronounced it a very good broom.

So popular was the Alberta Pantry with its display of "Made in Alberta" products that the booth was photographed by the C.P.R. their intention being to use the picture for immigration purposes overseas.

Some 346 Albertans signed the visitors book during the fair, while capacity audiences listened to the daily lectures given by the director.

The Canadian National Exhibition gave the space free, and the Canadian National Railways gave free transportation of the exhibit from Edmonton to Toronto, otherwise the expense of the exhibit and speaker in charge was paid by the Alberta Women's Institute. This was the only Alberta exhibit at the fair. After the exhibition the entire contents of the pantry were given to the homes for the Blind and to the Christie Street hospital for Crippled Soldiers.

When it is noted that from Red Deer practically right down to the southern border possibly only a small percentage of the exhibit is completed on account of the early heavy snowfall and rain, we have a real reason to be thankful that over 75 per cent of the crop within this district is all safely harvested, and that it is the harvest, too.

Mr Anley Kenny, an old-timer was in town at the end of last week.

Frank Stott is now painting the Bick Kenny house on Second avenue.

Mr L. Watkins enjoyed a happy ride on Monday last, when the I.O.O.F. goat "did its stuff" for Len's benefit.

Mr S. Bibby resigned his position at the Union bank last week and has now left for Edmonton.

We are informed that the crop of wheat on the farm of Mr Howard Grant at Auburndale threshed out between 30 and 35 bushels to the acreage.

It is a happy instance to note that all the recent patients from scarlet fever, typhoid and chicken-pox are practically all better now. All of them were cases of a mild type.

Although the snow has been falling practically since Sunday, the weather is still so mild that the "beautiful" has apparently not come to stay as yet!

An optimist is a person who doesn't care what happens so long as it doesn't happen to him. Don't be an optimist about your fire insurance; delays are dangerous. See Joe Welch about this at once. Phone 57.

FARMERS WILL REGAIN LANDS SOLD CHEAPLY

Following a meeting between all parties concerned in the supreme court action brought by Joseph Ringette of St. Albert, against H. Stevens and the Municipal District of Hazelwood, No. 579, on Friday, a settlement was reached in the private room of Mr Justice Tweedie by which Mr Ringette will recover two quarters sections of land purchased by Stevens from the Municipality at a tax sale in October, 1921 and transferred to him in November.

Action had been commenced during the morning sessions and after airing of arguments by all parties, the meeting of the municipality suggested the recovery of which was held in the judge's office. After some hours of conference a settlement was reached, the conditions of which will be carried out by an order of the court. Notwithstanding the curative section added to the Tax Recovery act in January, 1924 to the effect that no sale should be questioned on grounds of defects, an order of settlement was made by the defence.

Ringette was suing for return of his two quarter sections which had been sold by William J. Wood, purporting to act as secretary treasurer of the Municipal District of Hazelwood, to Stevens, for $148.93 and $237.28. Ringette claimed that the lands were worth $5,200 and that he had not been notified of the sale. Incidentally, Stevens had bought 36 out of the 46 farms offered for sale for arrears of taxes.

Under the settlement agreement Ringette will have his two quarter sections restored to him, clear of encumbrances, except for arrears of the taxes due, and the municipality is to have a charge against the lands until these arrears are paid. The municipality is to pay the plaintiff's costs, and to withdraw.

As a certain amount of improvements had been done by Stevens, the plaintiff is to pay the municipality a bounty of $300 to cover these and further, this year's crop is to go to the original owner, Ringette.

Strong comment on the action of secretaries, in an improperly advertised sale, was made by Mr Justice Tweedie during the hearing of the case. He stated he was going to do all in his power to make these officials refrain from neglecting their duties.

When the pool will start functioning has not been definitely determined yet but officials state that the date will not be delayed long. Just what arrangements will be made for the operation of the distributing houses taken over from the government has not been worked out, but it is likely that the educational service provided to egg producers by the government stations in the three cities will be continued by the pool.

Miss Mary Sciffell left last week to commence her studies at the university of Alberta.

Mr and Mrs Douglas Brown arrived home last week from their honeymoon in the east and are now in residence on Fourth avenue.

Coal is cheap. You can buy a ton of good clean lump coal from the Atlas yard for $5.00. Phone 57 and add 50c for town delivery.

Mr and Mrs J. Davidson motored to the city last week end to be present at the banquet given to the Grand-Sire of the I.O.O.F.

You know about Heinz's varieties. We want you to know about our phone number. It's 57 also, so you will know the right number to ring when you want wood, coal, storm sash or doors, building materials and fire insurance. Atlas yard, Joe Welch, phone 57.

Big improvements are being undertaken by Mr J. Tolmie with his home on Second Avenue. He is taking out a basement and installing a furnace, as well as adding to the verandah, nice improvements, Jack.

We are informed that the old Quigley and McPherson ranch at Sheepskin Flats north of town is being purchased by an immigration organization as a training ground for new settlers and to the end to completing arrangements, Mr G. Conroy of Edmonton was in town this week.

RED CROSS ANNUAL CAMPAIGN IN ALBERTA

The Annual Campaign for Funds for the Alberta Division Canadian Red Cross takes place in October throughout the province. On October 31st the day known as Red Cross Day or Health Day.

A special feature this year is the system of Grain Donations, by which gifts of grain in lieu of cash are borrowed from the farmers. All elevator companies have been instructed by the Western Grain Dealers' Association to accept donations of grain and to forward cash cheques to Provincial Headquarters.

This Grain Campaign will in no way interfere with the regular Red Cross Campaign which is a direct appeal for contributions and membership.

It is hoped that all country towns and districts will plan to have a Red Cross Entertainment, or Dance some time during October, preferably October 31st, the proceeds to assist in reaching the objective for that community.

Lantern Lectures and Campaign Literature as well as grain receipt books and Entertainment posters are available at Head Office on receipt of your name and address. If desired Headquarters will arrange for speakers to accept meetings on behalf of the Red Cross Drive.

EARL OF CAVAN
MAY BE VICEROY

LONDON, The name of the Earl of Cavan, Chief of the Imperial army staff is being considered as a possibility for the post of governor-general of Canada at the end of Lord Byng's term according to authentic reports current here today.

SOME TIME later, Mr Reville sent his boy out to the pit to find Scotty with the result that the accident was noted, and Dr Wallace immediately gave the sufferer all possible attention. He was taken to the hospital, where he is getting along as well as can be expected, although it will probably be some time before the injured limb will be of service, this being the same leg which has caused the patient much trouble ever since the war.

Three schools of agriculture will open in the province this fall for the winter months. These will be the schools at Claresholm, Olds and Vermilion.

Last year the Vermilion school was used exclusively for training of British youths under the Hoadley scheme. This year it has been decided to open the school for regular students again, and that the British youths who come out will be distributed among the three schools, putting them on the same footing as Alberta farm young people.

It is expected that all three schools will have a good attendance this term which opens October 27. Nearly 50 registrations have been received already for the Vermilion school, which has been closed to regular students for the past two terms. At the other schools at Claresholm and Olds indications are for a good registration. Claresholm last year had over 80 students and Olds about 180. About 50 British boys are already signed up in London, Eng. for courses in the schools here. These will be distributed among the three schools.

The courses offered in the schools of agriculture are free to boys and girls over 16 years of age. There are no entrance requirements. The only cost to the student is for board and lodging and for what notebooks are required. Those desiring information about the courses should write the principals of the schools at Claresholm, Olds or Vermilion, or to the department of agriculture at Edmonton.

SCOTTY BAILEY IS VICTIM OF CAVE IN OF LOCAL SANDPIT

To his spirit of dogged endurance and determination, a spirit which he exhibited years ago in the Great War where he suffered pensionable wounds Jim (Scotty) Bailey probably owes his life today.

On Saturday afternoon last he went in the course of his employment by Harley Renville, out to the gravel pit for a load of sand. As it was getting late, Scotty was making good time with his work, but unfortunately did not notice that he was undercutting the top land, with the result that after he had about a half load on the pit, it caved in and buried him up around the waistline, and in addition broke his left leg just below the knee.

For some little time he lay there in agony and attempted to attract attention to his perilous position by shouting, but as this proved of no avail, he commenced to dig himself out of his predicament with his hands. He eventually succeeded in freeing himself, and released the large boulder which had caused the injury to his leg. He was all the time suffering excruciating agony, but by dint of an almost superhuman determination he at last managed to drag himself on to the wagon and start to reach town. About half way in, he unfortunately dropped one of the lines with the result that the team pulled off the trail and realising his helplessness he stopped them.

Some time later, Mr Reville sent his boy out to the pit to find Scotty with the result that the accident was noted, and Dr Wallace immediately gave the sufferer all possible attention. He was taken to the hospital, where he is getting along as well as can be expected, although it will probably be some time before the injured limb will be of service, this being the same leg which has caused the patient much trouble ever since the war.

BIGGER BRAKEMAN MEETS DEATH IN GREENSHIELDS YARDS

A terrible tragedy occurred at Green Shields on Monday evening between nine and ten p.m., when Frank L. Hanway, a C.N.R. brakeman, of Biggar was killed.

It appears that Hanway and Conductor Saunders who was in charge of freight train No. 517, westbound, were at work switching on the elevator track at Greenshields. The two men were riding on the pilot of engine No. 870, driven by Frank Robinson, at their duties, when a heavy plank at the elevator crossing just east of the depot, which had evidently become misplaced, flew up and caught the deceased, and caused him to lose his balance. The injured man, who had his feet cut off and was very badly smashed on the head and face, was immediately placed upon the train by his fellow trainee and rushed to Wainwright, but was dead before his arrival here. Corporal Moses and Coroner Dr. Wallace having viewed the remains, it was decided to hold an inquest, and the train crew were held over here for that purpose, although the body was shipped back to the home of the deceased at Biggar on Tuesday morning.

A wife and two children are left to mourn the loss of a loving husband and father.

"RIDIN' THUNDER"
SHOULD PROVE BIG
DRAWING PICTURE

Because he shot and killed a coyote which had crossed his path, Frank Douglas created a circumstance which placed him in the shadow of the gallows. Douglas is accused, tried and condemned as being the slayer of a notorious outlaw. His only son, Jack is desperately in love with Jean Croit innocent daughter of the murdered outlaw. She is brought up in ignorance of her father's profession. The tragedy of the situation falls upon the shoulders of the youthful lovers. They strive to prove the innocence of the condemned man. In the attempt, they are thrown into desperate situations from which they have difficulty to extricate themselves. Finally, the real slayer is forced into an admission of the crime after a wild ride across the State of Arizona Jack arrives on the scene in time to save his father.

Such is the synopsis of the big film which is showing tonight and tomorrow at the theatre, when Jack Hoxie stars in the picture adaptation of "Jean of the Lazy 7", one of Hoxie's best sellers.

The story is one to stir the blood of every westerner, and will no doubt prove a big drawing feature.

C.N.R. CLUB HOLDS
OPENING CARD PARTY
FOR THIS SEASON

Owing possibly to many counter attractions on Friday evening last, not as many as were hoped for attended the opening card party of the season put on by the C.N.R. social club.

The ladies in charge of the refreshments were "right on deck" with their end of the proceedings, and an enjoyable time was spent.

The prize winners were—Ladies Mrs P. Laird, 1; Mrs W. Arkwright, 2; and Mrs A. Pearce, 3. Gentlemen: H. Richardson, 1; H. Smart, 2; and H. Ward, 3.

SYNOPSIS

Jim Fowler has induced Bob Wilson to remain in Crater City in the employ of the railroad. The two meet a one-handed tramp who attempts to stab Bob with his steel spikes, for exposing him as a thief, but Wilson is too quick for him. At the railroad station Bob sees a handbill bearing his own photograph and the offer of a reward for information concerning him. As he tears it down he sees Spike, the tramp, leering at him through a window.

Jim, pausing as he roused the platform corner, looked at his excited friend in curious surprise; then, catching sight of Spike, he shrugged and came forward again.

"Oh, wouldn't blame you if you did choke him, Bob," he sympathized, "but it's too hot to get excited at him like that. Besides, he's got plenty coming to him. The men inside say they've got the goods on him for many things—breaking box car seals, among other things. He'll get fifteen years if he gets a day. Come, let's go home."

Sick at heart or reasons he could not confide, his outlook clouded with morbid speculation as to how much Spike had seen of the handbill, or knew, Bob stumbled away in silence beside Jim. After him, a gleeful shout from the window—"I've got your number, bob!" After him, too, a derisive, mocking, knowing laugh that was to haunt and disturb Bob on many a day when otherwise surety and peace would have been his.

CHAPTER V

Dust from the measured footsteps of five trudging years sifted over sleepy Crater City every season adding a square to the quilt of time that tucked the little town more and more snugly each twelve month in the isolated importance of its remote hill-country bed. Though professionally ailing and abetting the ceaseless pulsation of traffic blood through the railroad artery on which it was a parasite, it was virtually stagnant itself. For every body born, someone died or left town, for every restless journeyman member of the Big Four Brotherhoods who rolled up his store of the world's good in greasy overalls and fared on, some half-baked recruit put in an intimidated first day under Bolts Moran.

And yet, excitement was endemic in Crater City like measles in an orphan asylum or barber's itch in Italy, a public trait it had in common with other central spheres of brawny industrial activities such as colliery villages, steel mill towns and fishing hamlets. There was always the Damoclean threat of those Sierra twins of perversity, Granite Gorge and the Old Witch, to raise this latent infection into an epidemic. Indeed, the town had known many a night's travail when blizzard or freshet were amuck in the mountains. Then its womenfolk waited and wept at the despatcher's bulletin board—like their storied sisters on beach and quay when waves rool high, or at

At headquarters of the most dangerous raiding division of transcontinental railroading Crater City was in effect, therefore, somewhat of a verminiferous appendix on the country's steel intestines in which every foreign body that stopped set up community inflammation; and aside from the sporadic ragings of strange dramatic pain in their workaday lives, the good citizens were subjected to acute epidemics of less tragic, if not less interesting, excitement. There was, for instance, the thrilling advent in to the town's ken of the handsome, mysterious hobo Bob Wilson, on that storm-racked night already a half decade gone. And the drapery day when a cross-dressed Special hearing a dead President's body to Washington rolled mournfully through. Days of other sorts, too, when Bolts Moran, hilariously belittled when he arrived of a junior Bolt, broke open a cage door in the menagerie car of a circus train in the yard and allowed a tiger to escape into the streets; when the town Magistrate crept timidly and obscurely into church and upon being singled out and patronizingly welcomed in an impromptu lost sheep text by the minister spat at him and departed in a huff; when Moran's yard gang won their third successive blue ribbon for having the best kept Division on the Road; when the Paymaster's car was robbed; when the Widow O'Leary had her gaiter removed; when Bob Wilson thumped the Yard bully who sneeringly called him a tramp.

But all these manifestations were mild compared with the sudden onslaught of brass crank that, without a forewarning symptom, kicked Crater City's inwards one feverish summer morning when a certain taffy-colored head flamed and sailed through the dry maselike hearts of the town like a virginal comet in a heap of dead worlds.

Bob Wilson, on his way downtown to breakfast early that morning, found himself conscious of an unwelcome something in the air. Not that many visible evidences suggested this; although, true enough, there seemed to be a sabbatical repression in the dusty flow of Main Street, while Feeneys' Pool Emporium was barren of its usual handful of oilyhanded idlers and the several groups of gossiping elderly men whom Bob passed were perky and animated quite beyond their accustomed stolidity. Bob wondered mildly, almost subconsciously, at these signs; but the most acute and significant testimony emanated from a premonitory tingling in his chest—a sort of pleasant uneasiness.

Bob was on call to take out a local freight at seven-thirty. It was already five minutes past seven when he elbowed briskly into the Ned Larvey lunchroom in the Depot, so he did not have any too much time in which to down his breakfast and glance through the morning paper. His general sensibility to an atmosphere of expectation and surprise was heightened at sight of the extraordinary number of trammies in the place, considering the time of day. Men coming off the night runs fingered, bright-eyed and sleepless; day crews at unburied by the inexorable tale of the clock. Bramley, the English exhibitor, manager of Crater City's branch of the famous Larvey chain of Transrockian Railroad restaurants and lunchrooms, was already on the job—this, in itself, a phenomenon of rare note.

Bob nodded in his genially silent way to acquaintances, saw with chagrin that his favorite table was occupied, then found himself an unwanted table in a secluded corner. Here he sat down in hasty peace, confident of the service of Minnie, the fat waitress whose consistent and special stewardly attentions he made sure of by generous tips.

"What the deuce is up?" he speculated, with a real curiosity, looking around as he propped against his sugar bowl with practised deftness his copy of the Salt Lake City morning newspaper, a batch of which were dropped off in Crater City at five a.m. each day by an eastbound through express. His eyes discovered no answer to his question, and a moment later the news paper headlines had taken his whole attention and interest far out of the influence of his immediate surroundings. So he did not realize that it was fully ten minutes before there came, at his elbow a shy voice.

"What will you have, sir, please?" Bob's eyes were wistfully scanning the society column, which, with the financial pages, he searched each morning.

Lost in his own reflections and reading he neither noticed that the voice was new and unfamiliar nor looked up when he said:

"Good morning, Minnie, Ham and eggs, turned up—toast and coffee—and bring me grapefruit first, please. The menfolk of Crater City had long since accepted Bob on the strength of his knowledge and his fists; the children and dogs for his character. But grapefruit for breakfast and addition to the only parts of the morning newspaper that nobody else in Crater City ever thought of reading were habitually broadcast by the lunchroom's loud speaker, Miss Anemone Triak the arid cashier—that kept fresh in the romance stenting noses of the town's fairest creatures a tantalizing aroma of secrecy and an unplumbed past safeguarded behind the unassailable twin brown forts of his smiling yet sad eyes.

An unpractised shoving of dishes under and against his paper came only as a signal to Bob, not as annoying distraction. He mechanically picked up a spoon without having noticed the unsureness of the service, and in absent-mindedness, born of a greater hunger for the news upon which his eyes were feasting, scooped up a spoonful of waffles!

He was actually on the second bite before it came to him that the "grapefruit" had a most peculiar taste indeed. What the devil say, where did these leather flaps come from—Minnie you're getting dumber by the—!—!—! beg your pardon Miss!

He had been vocally castigating the

The Official Ride of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, commenced this year on the morning of August 8th and ended at Wapta Camp on the night of the tenth. Over a hundred members of the organization rode across country between Marble Canyon, on the Banff-Windermere Highway, to the Bungalow Camp at Lake Wapta.

The Riders, among them a number of prominent society people, scientists and artists, all travelling on horse-back, blazed a new passage across the Wolverine Plateau. Six countries were represented: Canada, the United States, Australia, France, the West Indies and England. The artists, of whom there were six, made sketches of the virgin scenery along the route of the newly discovered trail.

Seven Indians were in the party, six being Kootenays under Chief Louis Arbel, while the seventh was Chief Buffalo Child Long Lance who gave a lecture on the Indian Races of Canada to the Canadian Club of Montreal during the winter, and is rapidly becoming famous as an authority upon Indian affairs.

The artists included Leonard Richmond, R.B.A., and A.L. Leighton of England; Carl Rungius, Belmont Browne and Richard M. Kimbel, of New York; and R. Palenok of Chicago. Paris was represented by the Due de Nemours, who recently purchased a ranch near Calgary.

This was the second annual Ride and Pow-wow of the organization. On the morning of August the eighth, motor cars conveyed the Riders from Lake Louise and Banff to the point of departure on the Banff-Windermere Highway. There guides and horses were in readiness and the party immediately mounted and the Ride commenced. The trail led up Tumbling Creek, past Tumbling Glacier and on the Wolverine Plateau where lunch was served. The ride then proceeded along the Plateau with the Wolverine Plateau, Mount Helmut and the Wapiti Plateau in the background.

That night camp was pitched on the Goodwin Plateau and before retiring the campers gathered around the fire for the usual sing-song, in the shadow of the cliff which rises sheer six thousand, five hundred feet above its valley.

On the second day the ride led down to Goodwin Creek and up McArthur Creek, past Lake McArthur. That night was spent at the shores of Lake O'Hara, the camp there being placed at the disposal of the Trail Riders by the Alpine Club of Canada. The day ended again with a sing-song.

On the third day, August 10th, the final ride was made from Lake O'Hara to Wapta Lake, where the expedition was concluded with a Fow-wow, sing-song and pale-face dance at Tippi Camp. It is expected that another ride of a similar nature will take place next year as the undertaking impressed those who took part as one of the most enjoyable outings they have experienced. Not only does the Ride provide an uncommonly pleasant holiday for sportsmen from Canada and the United States, but it also serves the excellent purpose of making the scenery and the fishing and hunting facilities of the Rockies known abroad.

WAINWRIGHT, ALBERTA OCTOBER 7th, 1925

WHISTLING THE SAME OLD TUNE

The high tariff party, the Conservatives, in this campaign are making the same old and inconsistent charges against the Liberal party on the tariff.
They say the Liberals are out-and-out free traders, that they will if required to power close every factory, bankrupt every manufacturer and drive every workman to the United States or to the poor house.

Confronted by the fact that the Liberal party has been in control of the government for nineteen out of the past twenty-nine years and that none of these terrible things have happened the Conservative turn right about face and say that the Liberals are high protectionists and made no changes in the tariff, as they found it in 1816.

Obviously, both charges cannot be true and as a matter of fact, neither is The Laurier government in 1897 made a downward revision of the tariff, transferred many commodities from the dutiable to the free list, and gave a preference to imports from England which has been gradually increased from 12½ per cent. to nearly 50 per cent. Canadian factories did not close on the contrary, there followed the greatest industrial development Canada has ever known. Two years ago when the duties on agricultural implements were lowered, the high tariff supporters said that the grass would grow on the streets of Toronto, her people would be reduced to beggary the Massey-Harris and other great manufacturing concerns would remove their plants to the United States.

Just why the Massey-Harris or other concerns of that kind should move to the United States is hard to explain, because they already have free and unrestricted access to the American market. Agricultural implements of every kind and description enter the States duty free. But the Massey-Harris company did not move to the United States. They are doing a bigger business than they were two years ago. The president of the Massey-Harris company has recently accepted a position in Premier King's cabinet. Would Mr Massey be an ardent supporter of the Liberal government if lowering the tariff had ruined his business? The city of Toronto is growing by leaps and bounds, as is every other manufacturing centre in Eastern Canada.

OUR FAVORABLE TRADE BALANCE

The following extract taken from the monthly news letter issued by the Canadian Bank of Commerce—an institution which can not be accused of issuing low-tariff propaganda—very clearly and conclusively proves that business in Canada is flourishing, despite the alleged statements of the leader of the Conservative party that everything is going to the dogs and that we must have more protection in order to cure our supposed national ills:

"The fact that Canadian money commands, for the time being at any rate, a tangible premium in New York, is due in some measure, no doubt, to the excellent market our securities command in the United States and to the conviction that economic conditions in the dominion are fundamentally sound but is also accounted for in part by the increasingly wide margin between our exports and our imports. During the twelve months ending June the total value of our exports amounted to $1,078,500,000, and our imports to $809,000,000, a favorable balance of $269,500,000. For the previous twelve months our exports amounted in value to $1,062,000,000, and our imports to $855,000,000 a favorable balance of $207, 000,000. A comparison between these sets of figures shows that the general decline which takes place as summer advances has not been accompanied by any noticeable contraction in our favorable balance, the balance being $272, 000,000 for the twelve months ending
May this year, as against $197,000,000 for the twelve months preceding. If it is of interest to note that the annual increase in the shipment of farm implements, machinery and newspaper has been steady from year to year."

Did you ever hear of a wealth man losing property by fire that was not insured? Your property is just as important to you; so take a tip and protect it. Joe Welch makes a specialty of insurance and will help you to collect.

FIRE PROTECTION TEN COMMANDMENTS

In view of the fact that this is fire prevention week, the following commandments are suggested:

1. Have all flues and chimneys properly cleaned before attempting to use them.

2. Look very carefully at the chimney or flue, at the point just above the peak of the roof where the chimney goes through, as the lower part may have settled and the upper portion, being held up by the roof timbers, may have pulled away, leaving an open space or break in the chimney that will permit sparks slipping through into the attic or concealed space.

3. Be sure that all flue holes that are not to be used this year have good metal stops, as innumerable fires are caused by sparks through piping or over unused pipe holes in chimneys.

4. Clean the ventilating collar around all flues, removing all lint, cobwebs and dust, leaving nothing in the ventilator, in this way permitting the air to cool the pipe where it goes through.

5. Be careful that the supply of kindling wood is not piled up in the yard in such a manner as to carry fire to your house, in case your neighbour's house should burn.

6. It is best to keep all lightwood kindlings and boxes in sheds, stables or basements, in orderly piles, and not to have papers or excelsior mixed with it.

7. Extra caution should be used in the handling of gasoline. In the winter months all windows and doors are closed, eliminating the possibility of the air blowing the inflammable vapors away.

8. Never use gasoline inside the house for cleaning, and when compulsed to use it for any other purpose do not forget that you are handling a powerful explosive which may endanger your life and property.

9. Remove all dry grass and leaves from your premises before some one carelessly throws a match away.

10. Do not dry clothing and inflammable materials above or near hot stoves.

If you will obey the above commandments, you can prevent many fires and much loss of life and property.

On account of labor troubles the Black Diamond mine were so far behind with their orders that the Atlas company could not secure enough to supply their fall customers. They were fortunate in obtaining the agency for Pembina Peatless, one of the best known coals west of Edmonton. This coal is giving great satisfaction as it is bright and hard for winter storage.

Do your part fire prevention week,
for remember that the fewer the fires,
the less insurance will cost you. See Joe Welch for your own protection.

regarded as a testimony to the protective methods employed by the game is not carried to excess.

Choice cows $3.50@3.75; good $3.25@3.50; medium $2.50@2.75; common $2.25@2.40. Canners and cutters $1.50@1.75. Choice bulls $2.50@3.00; medium $1.75@2.25; cutters $1.25@1.50. Choice veal calves $1.75@2.00; common veal $1.50@1.75. Fed steers $1.50@1.75; stock heifers $2.25@2.50; stock cows $1.75@2.25.

HOGS

A reduction in the number of hogs marketed at Edmonton had a better effect on the market and thick smooth, off cars, are being quoted at $12.25, with a 10 per cent premium being paid for bacon.

SHEEP

Prices on Edmonton market are holding firm, with receipts declining.

BUTTER—CHEESE

CREAMERY BUTTER—Some shipments are being made from this province, and the export market is reported to have a very firm tone. Local creamerymen are finding a good market at home, and it takes quite a bit of figuring to supply the demand, with less cream being handled. Prices are unchanged. DAIRY BUTTER—This market is practically out of existence the roads being in terrible shape and farmers not attempting the journey to town. CREAM—Receipts at local creameries are very light, the heavy loads holding up deliveries; besides this the cows are not giving as much cream and most of what they do give is kept at home, going into dairy butter for home use. Alberta prices are unchanged but Manitoba values advanced to 42c for special grade, and Saskatchewan is up to 39c for special coming into effect during the week. The cheese market is reported as having a healthy tone with prices unchanged.

POULTRY—EGGS

EGGS—Receipts are light, and storage holdings are being used to satisfy the demand. A considerable number of pullet eggs are now on the market, and local dealers are quoting 25c for good fresh ones. POULTRY—Local dealers are still wishing that the farmers would keep their thin birds at home as it creates friction between the producer and jobber, the farmer not being satisfied with his returns. A shipment of live fowl was made to the coast on Wednesday by one of the local firms.

POTATOES

Spud values are at $20@22.50, local dealers say, although one man living north of this city received $25 per ton. Dealers are expecting the market to be fairly well cleaned up by end of week.

GRAIN

Values on the exchange at Wainwright have been dropping away since last week, although they firmed up on Tuesday. Threshing has been held up in most parts of the province on account of the snow, although some reports state that the northern part of province was harvesting until Tuesday.

BULLETIN FROM PROVINCIAL GOVT.

Many Teachers in Training
Provincial normal schools will be crowded with teachers in training this term. More than 300 students have been admitted at Camrose and 375 will be in training at the Calgary school. This is an increase over former years.

New Offer re Peace River Railway
An informal proposal for the C.P.R. to purchase the E.D. and B.C. railway into the Peace River country has been made to President Beatty of the C.P.R. by Premier Greenfield, during Mr Beatty's recent visit to the city. The offer is being considered by the C.P.R. heads.

British Journalists Visit Province
The party of ten British journalists who have been touring the west under the auspices of the C.P.R., paid visits to Calgary and Edmonton recently. At Edmonton they were taken to the farm of Lord Rodney near Fort Saskatchewan. The journalists also paid an extended visit to the Alberta University. They were much impressed with what they saw of Western Canada.

More Oil at Fort Norman Further proof that oil in hopeful quantities is contained in comparatively shallow shales on structures in the lower Mackenzie River Valley was brought out from Fort Norman by the Imperial Oil Ltd., drill crew. The Fort Norman crew reported that in the well drilled this summer, a short distance from the original Discovery Well, oil estimated in quantity at about 100 barrels per day was struck in a shale at a depth of 1060 feet.

British M.P.'s Visit Province

Recent prominent visitors to the province from the old land included Rt. Hon. Viscount Gage, Capt. D. Margeson, M.P., and Capt. V. A. Cazalet, M.P., from Britain.

Russian Families Settling Here

Twenty-one Russian families of a good type recently arrived in the High River district south of Calgary with a view to purchasing farm lands in the vicinity of the Bar-U Ranch.

Here and There

The output of silver from Cobalt during July amounted to about 400,000 ounces, according to preliminary estimates. This had a value of less than $300,000, or at the rate of about $3,600,000 a year.

All attendance records for the Central Canada Exhibition were broken this year. There was a total attendance of 349,200, or 42,400 greater than the previous record of 307,000, made in 1922.

The first Italian ship to visit Vancouver in several years will be the steamer Piave II, of the Navigazione Libera Trestina, due here at the end of this month. This boat will inaugurate a new service between this port and points on the Mediterranean.

Production of paper by the Powell River Company, at Vancouver, will be increased 80 per cent by the completion of a $5,000,000 development programme, now under way, according to an announcement made by M. J. Scanlan, a director of the company. At present the plant is turning out about 75,000 tons a year.

Signs of returning prosperity to Canada are evidenced by the fact that more Canadians are registered in the Canadian Pacific Rocky Mountain resorts during the past week than at any time since the beginning of the year. These resorts, which are usually filled almost entirely by Americans, contain a guest list last week which is 50 per cent Canadian.

Production of gold in Ontario for the first six months of this year amounted to $14,506,219, as compared with $11,810,960 in the corresponding period of last year, according to a report issued by the Provincial Department of Mines. Silver production increased from $3,282,100 to $3,792,662. Total mineral production was $41,560,365, as compared with $37,997,776.

John Edwin Hoag and Frank S. Wilton, who travelled across the entire continent in a small motor-boat arrived recently in Montreal and moved their craft to Canadian Pacific Pier No. 8 having come from Astoria, Oregon, via Columbia River, Cello Falls, Fort Benton, the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers, the Chicago Drainage Canal and Lake Michigan since May, 20th. From Montreal they continued their journey to New York and returned to the States, via Canadian Pacific Railway to Vancouver and Seattle in order to see the country.

The groundwork for what promise to be big industries is now being developed by the Singer Sewing Machine Company at Thurso, a point on the Canadian Pacific Railway, on the north shore line to Ottawa. It is planned by the Singer Company to manufacture at Thurso all the woodwork required for their numerous plants in different parts of the world. Work on the new plant is being pushed with all possible speed and it is anticipated that shipments from Thurso will commence sometime early next year.

While the Canadian Railway Commission is besieged with all kinds of applications for reductions in Canadian freight rates, the Western group of railways in the United States is asking for a five per cent increase and the northwestern section of the group is asking more than that "as a measure of relief." Some of these roads are in the hands of the receivers. Yet these American railways already have higher rates than the Canadian roads, the freight revenues in the U.S.A. being 1.298 cents per ton mile on western lines as compared with 1.011 cents on all Canadian railways. The average American rate is 24 per cent above the average Canadian rate. Owing to the low grain rates in Canada, the C.P.R. average rate is 1.011 per ton mile, so that the average rate on American western lines is more than 50 per cent above the average C.P.R. rate.

"Oh, I remember what you wanted it was stupid of me." She wearily reached for the waffles to rectify her mistake. Over the girl's confusion Bob bridged his own return to self-possession. "In and you brought the waffles—I meant to order them. Doctor told me I ought to eat waffles three times a day. Please leave them—and don't worry about it—" he smiled contritely. "You're only saying that!" she charged, defensively suspicious. "I'd much prefer to take them back and fetch what you ordered."

Bob playfully stuck a fork through the nest of flat cakes. "They're mine!" he insisted firmly, adding a white lie in the eternal masculine martyrdom to bugging but pretty womankind, "and they're just what I wanted!"

The defensiveness was stamped on her pride under the prancing hood of her running smiles and chuckles and good-natured banter. With shy reluctance she relinquished her hold on the waffle plate.

"It's very nice of you—but are you sure?"

"Just as sure as I'm sure that I'm not here at all—that I'm still in bed, sleeping, having a beautiful dream—" "Do you want your coffee now?" hastily.

The soul hunger of five starved years of exile in the barren society of this railroad town in the mountains impelled Bob on in a freedom of spirit and speech that would have been utterly foreign to his inhibitions in the old days. He tilted his chair back and said to her with the swift frankness of unconcealed admiration.

"I've heard of sights for sore eyes, but yours the first genuine cure I've seen!"

"Do you want your coffee now, she repeated severely. Then, "Please—Mr."

Bramley is watching as I've made so many mistakes this morning."

"I don't blame Bramley, or anybody else, for watching you."

Sudden tears of nervous disappointment and impatience welled behind his long lashes that fringed her blue eyes like Lebanon cedars around Green pools.

"When I first saw you I thought you seemed a bit different—than these others," she said in a low tone, "but I must have been mistaken. You're repeating the same things, in better words, that I've been hearing all morning. You're making it very difficult for me. See, here's the manager, now—"

The girl pretended to be wiping the table adjacent to Bob's place, and said in a louder tone, "Very well, I'll bring your coffee now!"

Bramley strolled up and nodded to Bob with the supercilious deference of a maître d'hotel to a good and orderly customer.

"Where's Minnie? I fished Bob, really wishing to congratulate Bramley on his choice in the new girl but feeling that it would be sacrilegious to discuss her in an over-the-table offhand manner."

"Stick. Too much for her alone, anyway. When she comes back, now there will be two of 'em. Telegraphed to main office and they sent this green girl yesterday—don't encourage us taking on local girls as a rule, you know. They know too many, and flirt too much," he confided significantly.

"What's her name?" asked Bob innocently.

"Caroline. Dale. Say what's got into you to eat waffles for breakfast?" It was part of Bramley's professional boast that he knew the eccentric habits of his "regulars."

"Finest thing in the world—for breakfast. And I've been missing them all these years," Bob lamented.

Bramley shrugged and strolled over to clean up a table after two untidy brakemen in his gingerly I-don't-really-have-to-do-this-but-just-to-show-I'm-not-too-proud" manner. And at this moment the new girl returned bearing a cup of coffee for Bob.

WOMEN MAKE BETTER DRIVERS THAN MEN

BY ERWIN GREER

(President Greer College of Automotive Engineering, Chicago)

Women are far better drivers than men. Prove it! Easily!

Being only the common, garden variety of flesh-and-blood, I took great delight while driving with the misuses to point out the various mistakes made by other women drivers. I really should have known better because the man who thinks he can put anything over on a woman is—crazy. Now 'friend wife never misses a chance to check up on the driving mistakes of both men and women whenever we are out in the car. And the figures. Make a check of your own while you are out driving next Sunday.

And that beautiful car which you own, do you believe that the manufacturer spent millions just to make it pleasing for your eyes? Don't be silly! He has known for a long time that a woman's eyes are better developed for beauty than man's. Show me a woman driving a car that is an eyesore.

In one eastern state tests were made of women and men applying for driving licenses. The ladies beat the men by a wide margin both in driving and a knowledge of the traffic laws. Laugh that of, you expert male drivers.

Even more than this it is a rare thing to see a woman that is coaxed over her ability to handle a car. She never "shows off" by spectacular driving, yet how many "smart alecks" among men drivers do you see daily? It is a fact that a woman is more nervous behind the wheel of a car than a man, but if she is nervous it is a sure sign that she is nervous because of trying to be cautious. This is indeed a virtue.

Don't discourage your wife with the unfounded belief that she can never understand the inside of an automobile engine. Of course she cannot do the heavy lifting and therefore can't compete with you as a mechanic but she is able and willing to absorb the theory of the mechanism and by so doing is capable of making minor repairs.

And the mother of your children needs the car for its health-giving qualities. To be able to breathe fresh air and to take such exercise as comes from operating an automobile means a great deal to her.

Is it any wonder that doctors advise women to drive their cars as much as possible?

Quit Kidding women drivers!

Southern Alberta is Beekeeper's Paradise

Upper—Examining the bees in George Riedel's Apiary in the Coldwater district.

Lower—A colony of bees in the Riedel Apiary.

Southern Alberta's irrigated districts, with their large fields of alfalfa and sweet clover, promise to become the beekeeper's paradise within the next five years.

Two years ago, less than 10,000 pounds of honey were produced in Alberta. Last year, 60,000 pounds were produced—and 32 carloads imported into the West to supply the demand. This year, on the C.P.R. irrigated project at Lethbridge, there will be produced more than 100,000 pounds. And this is just a start.

"Southern Alberta's irrigated districts will be shipping trainloads—not carloads—of honey to the markets within five years" declared Frank C. Pellatt, field editor of the American Bee Journal, Hamilton, Illinois, on the occasion of his visit to Southern Alberta late in July this year. "This is the greatest potential honey producing district in North America."

Today, one apiarist in the Coldwater district on the C.P.R. irrigated project has 600 colonies of bees. This man, C. George Riedel, came to Southern Alberta from California in the spring of 1924 and started with 300 colonies. In 1925 he will have 1500 colonies and will make more than 150 tons of honey. This year his bees will make him about 50 tons, and one wholesale firm having branches throughout the West is handling the whole output.

Each colony of bees makes about 200 pounds in a season, though one colony at the Lethbridge Experimental Farm broke all records for Canada by making 472 pounds in the season of 1923. A record of 21 pounds in one day by one colony was made in 1923 when the bees at the Experimental Farm averaged 189 pounds for the season, the high record for the year at the experimental farms across Canada.

BORN—To Mr and Mrs Alois Girard, of Heath, on October 4th, a girl. By a notice in the Canada Gazette Thanksgiving Day has been set for Monday, November 9th, this year.

Now is the dangerous time for fires. Look over your stove pipes and also your fire policies. Take them to Joe Welch; he will attend to them for you. Phone 57.

The public are cordially invited to attend the meeting of the teacher's convention in the theatre on Thursday October 15th, when Capt. Corbett, of Edmonton will be the principal speaker.

We regret to learn that Mrs G. Hollinshead had to undergo an operation on Saturday last in Edmonton, and express hopes of her early and complete recovery.

If you have not made arrangements for your winter's supply of coal see us at once while the price is low. We handle only the best grades—Imperial Lumber Co, phone 1-0.

The attention of potato growers and shippers is drawn to the fact that after September 1st last, all potatoes offered for sale in Canada must be tagged and graded in compliance with the provisions of the Root Vegetable Act.

Mr A. Scofield, jr., is now back from his holiday at the coast.

Mr Coal Consumer: Have you tried the coal pool? Come in and talk it over; our plan will appeal to you!—Alberta Pacific Grain Co, phone 8.

Mr A. Mackay, of Edmonton, is here on a visit to his sister Mrs G. Skett.

Seems funny! Such an awful lot of sportsmen around these days, and yet we learn on enquiry that only a few licenses have been sold. Better watch out, fellows! Corp. Moses is on the job!

It may be real news to the Eskimos, but YOU know that when you ring 57 the Atlas Lumber Co will send you the best there is in coal or wood. Black Diamond, Pembina Peerless of Newcastle.

After a holiday spent in the east, Mr and Mrs G. Glass have now arrived back home.

Good news for the farmers! Butter fat is up another two cents making the price 40c now.

Threshers' Lien Note Books at The Star office.

Messrs J. Collins, R. Milner, G. Henwood and M. Robertson, all came this far from the city on Saturday to meet the Rt. Hon Arthur Meighen and escort him to Edmonton.

Mrs Jack Bates of Biggar is staying for a few days with her parents Mr and Mrs H. Kemp with her little son.

A few months ago the Atlas Lumber Co lost their Calgary sash and door factory by fire. They have now replaced the building with a large solid brick factory where they have installed the most modern machinery and are in the very best position to give you storm sash the best attention. Leave your orders with the local agent, Joe Welch, phone 57.

Miss May Dalgleish, arrived from her home at Kamloops on Saturday last to spend a holiday with relatives in the district.

Don't be circumscribed in your outlook! Reach out and make friends! The Westinghouse Radiola will "bring 'em in" from all over the continent. The prices are now much lower at the Wainwright Pharmacy.

Storm sash made to order; and now is the time to attend to a matter of such importance. See Mel Fraser at the Imperial yard for prompt attention.

The political meetings in the city were thoroughly enjoyed by the radicals in town, and many who otherwise would not have heard Premier King and Mr. McPherson thoroughly enjoyed these radio parties. The speeches came over clear and distinct, too!

Steve Bowerman is busy these days on his duties as enumerator for this district for the coming elections.

Protect yourself from the long winter you are facing with Atlas Lumber Co's coal, by getting your storm sash and doors, and by getting lumber, paper, etc to keep the cold out. Joe Welch will give you all particulars.

Mr T. Lissimore arrived back from his convention trip to Kansas last week.

Miss Wainwright Foster is now occupied at her new position in the dental office of Dr. Courcier.

Get your aerials up before the frost so as to enjoy your radio concerts the whole winter long. The Wainwright Pharmacy will help you to have abundant enjoyment. Come in and talk it over.

Mr T. Dolan is now busy assisting Mr Caslick to finish the erection of his home on Second avenue.

We regret to know that Mr P. Monahan was taken back to the hospital last week for further medical treatment.

We learn that Mr A. Beckett has been called east by the serious illness of his mother.

Mr J. Primrose, of Islay, was visiting his relatives in town over the week end.

Satisfied customers must mean users of Penn and Black Gem coals. Service and satisfaction also means Imperial if you phone Mel Fraser at 12-0.

Mrs J. Cuthbertson had an evening last week when a large number of the town ladies had a really enjoyable time over the tea-cups.

The Women's Institute are holding a convention at Wainwright on Tuesday next, October 13th.

Threshers' Lien Note Books at The Star office.

Master Sidney Nelson is now in attendance at Normal school at Camrose.

We are glad to note that little Jimmie Gerow is now recovered so as to leave the hospital and join his parents here.

LAND CLASSIFICATION AND SOIL MAPS

Land classification surveys have been carried on for the past few years by the Dominion Government for the purpose of obtaining accurate and reliable information about the agricultural possibilities of our land resources. This systematic classification has been undertaken and carried on in selected areas on the edge of settlement within a reasonable distance of existing railways. It includes to date a complete examination of over twenty-six million acres of arable lands, as well as a preliminary or reconnaissance examination of over eight million acres more for the purpose of determining whether a further detailed examination is necessary.

In each investigated area or district the field examiner after a personal investigation, classifies the lands into arable and non-arable, with sub-classes

In each case relating to their suitability or non-suitability for immediate settlement. The type of soil is determined by tests and analyses, and other matters of interest and value to intending settlers are observed, such as forest cover, water supply, drainage, routes of travel, and their condition, schools, churches, marketing points, municipal development, climate and so on.

The information obtained on these surveys has been compiled and made available to the public for each district investigated in the form of land classification maps, soil maps, and other maps, plans and reports. Those may be consulted by intending settlers and others interested, free of charge at the local land offices for the districts in question. If individual copies of the land classification and soil maps are desired they may be obtained at the local land offices or directly from the Topographical Survey, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, in either case upon payment of a nominal charge.

An index map of the Canadian West outlining the areas of the districts in which lands have been classified and detailing the land classification maps and soil maps that have been issued in each case, will be sent free upon application to the office of Topographical Survey.

Labor Bureau Places Many Workers

During the nine months from January to September inclusive, the provincial labor bureau has placed a total of 47,217 workers. During the harvest season this year it has placed 9,638 workers, compared with only 4,792 last year. The unit cost of placements per individual this year has been 62 cents as compared with $1.34 in 1921.
